man right in the North Sea against the German submarines. It is the most important step for the United States to take in the war against Germany. It is a step which will show the world that the United States is not only a powerful nation, but also a nation which is willing to take the lead in the fight against the enemy.

PEACE COMMISSION TO MEET IN BERLIN, CHANCELLOR SAYS

BERLIN, Nov. 29, via London, Nov. 30 (British Admiralty, via Wireless Press).—The war situation was reviewed before the Reichstag today by Count Georg F. von Hertling, the new Imperial Chancellor. He declared that Germany was ready to enter into peace negotiations as soon as the Russian Government sent representatives having full powers to Berlin. The Chancellor said he hoped and wished that the present efforts would take definite shape and "bring us peace."

German arms, the Chancellor said, have been uniformly successful, and the submarine warfare will reach the aim intended for it. He said the ships sunk will exceed in tonnage that of those newly constructed. He praised the army and navy and eulogized the home population for its patience and endurance under great privations.

The Imperial Chancellor opened his speech, after personal references to his assumption of office, by asking the loyal co-operation of the Reichstag. He continued:

"We are approaching the end of the year that has been full of far-reaching and decisive events in many theaters of the war. I am proud and thankful to say that the arms of Germany and her allies have been successful on almost every occasion and everywhere."

He recalled that the Flanders battle had continued almost without interruption since July, and that the British Army was superior in number and that several French divisions had taken part in the fight. Notwithstanding the loss of some villages and towns, the German front there remained unshaken and the enemy was as far as ever from his object of reaching the Flanders coast to destroy German U boat bases. He added:

"Recognizing the failure of their attacks in Flanders, the British are now seeking near Cambrai a decisive result. The hope which Great Britain placed upon the wholesale use of tanks has not been fulfilled. They lie destroyed on the battlefield by successful German counter-measures. The initial British success was paralyzed by the entrance of our reserves."

"The French also have had local successes northwest of Soissons and before Verdun, but every strategical exploitation of these had been prevented by the German Army command. Every one remembers the events in the East which led to the conquest of Riga and Jacobstadt."

"The glorious advance of the armies of the Central Powers in Italy holds the world in suspense even today. Overwhelmingly difficult tasks have been accomplished there by the fighting strength of the German and Austro-Hungarian troops in their surprisingly rapid attack and penetration of rough mountain territory.

"Further, the success of our victories from the Isonzo to the Piave is an effective relief to our own western front."

"From the Sinai Peninsula the British are operating against the Turkish troops in Palestine and have been able to achieve certain initial successes there. These, however, have no influence on the general war situation from a military point of view. In the theatre of war in Asia Minor and in Iraq the situation is unchanged."

After declaring that the German war fleet had thoroughly fulfilled the hopes and expectations placed in it, the Chancellor continued:

"The High Seas Fleet, whose constant activity often has been veiled from the public view, deserves the thanks of the country. It has since its glorious day off the Skagerrak, lately shown anew, after a long interval, in the capture of the islands of Oesel, Dagö and Moon, in typical cooperation with the army and in its latest successful fight in the German Bight.

CHILDREN NEED FOOD—NOT ALCOHOL
How careless it is to accept alcoholic medicine for children when everybody knows that their whole health and growth depends upon correct nourishment. If your children are pale, listless, underweight or puny, they absolutely need the special, concentrated food that only gives, to improve their nutrition and repair waste caused by youthful activity. During school term all children should be given Scott's Emulsion because it benefits their blood, sharpens their appetite and rebuilds their strength by sheer force of its great nourishing power.
